

INFER Workshop on Economic Geography, Agglomeration and Environment

September 24th – 25th, 2015

University of Corsica, Corte (France)

Jointly organized by

INFER (International Network for Economic Research)
LISA (Laboratory « Places, Identities, Spaces and Activities ») UMR CNRS

Workshop Objectives:

The aim of this workshop is to provide an opportunity to researchers to exchange their ideas on agglomeration and environment. We wish to focus the discussions around two main topics: first, the economic dynamics of regions and urban expansion on which researchers can broach the questions of the cities and regions size, specialization and inter-connexions in a globalized world economy; second, the effects of agglomeration process on the environment, the impact on citizens welfare, on firms and people location choices, the environmental policies that may be set up and their impact on the agglomeration dynamics.

We invite researchers to submit both empirical and theoretical papers that are broadly consistent with at least one of these subjects.

The special topic of the workshop will be Economic Geography, Agglomeration and Environment. Papers that address these questions through the field of (New) Economic Geography are especially welcomed.

Keynote Speakers:

We are happy to welcome the following internationally distinguished keynote speakers:

Philip McCann (University of Groningen)

Michael Rauscher (University of Rostock)

Cees Withagen (VU University Amsterdam)

Organization:

The workshop is jointly organized by

- INFER (International Network for Economic Research)
- UMR LISA (Laboratory « Places, Identities, Spaces and Activities »)

INFER is a non-profit international scientific organization that stimulates research and research networking in all fields of economics through international workshops and conferences. For more details, see the INFER website at: <http://www.infer-research.net>

UMR «Lieux, Identités, eSpaces et Activités» (LISA) has as main objective to study the relations between nature and society, in their spatial, temporal and symbolic dimensions. Its purpose is to:

- Explore from a specific angle -that of island spaces and societies- the paradigm of sustainable development: the insular space becomes a "place" of analysis and understanding of the complexity that this concept has.
- Help to define the sustainable management of territories. Again the insular space may be the "place" for an experimental simulation of sustainable development policies.

Organizing Committee:

Julien Ciucci (University of Corsica, UMR LISA)
Corinne Idda (University of Corsica, UMR LISA)
Marie Antoinette Maupertuis (University of Corsica, UMR LISA)
Sandrine Noblet (University of Corsica, UMR LISA)
Camelia Turcu (University of Orléans, INFER)

Paper Submission Procedure:

To submit a paper to the workshop, please send a complete version in a pdf format to the email address "idda@univ-corse.fr" with the subject "Submission to the INFER Workshop". The deadline is June 18th 2015. Only full papers in English may be submitted, preferably in pdf-format with the following information:

- Authors' full name and affiliation
- Contact details for corresponding author, such as address, phone and e-mail

All submitted papers will be peer reviewed according to a high-quality and fast referee process overviewed by the Scientific Committee. Authors will be notified whether their paper is accepted for presentation at the Workshop no later than July 31th, 2015. Workshop presenters are expected to discuss one other paper during the sessions. The discussant assignments will be made by the workshop organizers at a later date. As the workshop intends to build a network in this research area, participation is welcome even without paper contributions.
