Organizers:

The workshop is jointly organized by the International Network for Economic Research (INFER) the CEPN (Université Paris 13) and the Labex MME-DII.

Working on a joint interdisciplinary project centred on mathematical, economic and financial modelling, the LABEX MME-DII consortium is composed of over 150 researchers specialized in such areas as economics, mathematics and physics. It brings together seven higher education and research institutions of the Île-de-France region. MME-DII's ambition is to constitute an internationally recognized research center in the modelling of stochastic processes, of decision-making in situations of uncertainty, and of the dynamics of strategic interactions. By combining such cross-disciplinary areas of knowledge as mathematics, economics and theoretical physics, MME-DII will help shed light on major societal challenges, ranging from the prevention of financial crises to the management of environmental risks.
